Loving God Is a Choice

by Rick Warren

“Today I am giving you a choice between good and evil, between life and death.” (Deuteronomy 30:15 GNT)

Although the world is broken, God is still in control.

Why doesn't God just shut the earth down now? Because he's giving us a choice. In Deuteronomy 30:15, the Bible says, "Today I am giving you a choice between good and evil, between life and death" (GNT).

In other words, God didn't create you to be a robot. He gives you the freedom to make moral choices. God made you in his image, so you're not like an animal that just goes by instinct. You're a human being with a conscience.

In effect, God says, "I gave you the capacity to make moral choices because I don't want to force you to love me. I want you to choose. You can either love me or not love me. You can believe in my Son, Jesus, or you can reject him. You can follow my purpose for your life, or you can go make up your own purpose for your life. I've given you that choice."

God wants you to choose to love him. You can't really say you love unless you have a choice not to love. I couldn't make my wife, Kay, fall in love with me. I can't make her stay in love with me. It's her choice. I can't force it. God doesn't force us to love him, either.

But here's the thing about the freedom of choice: You must be willing to live with the consequences of your choices. While you're free to choose anything you want to do in life, you're not free from the consequences. The consequences are part of the choice.

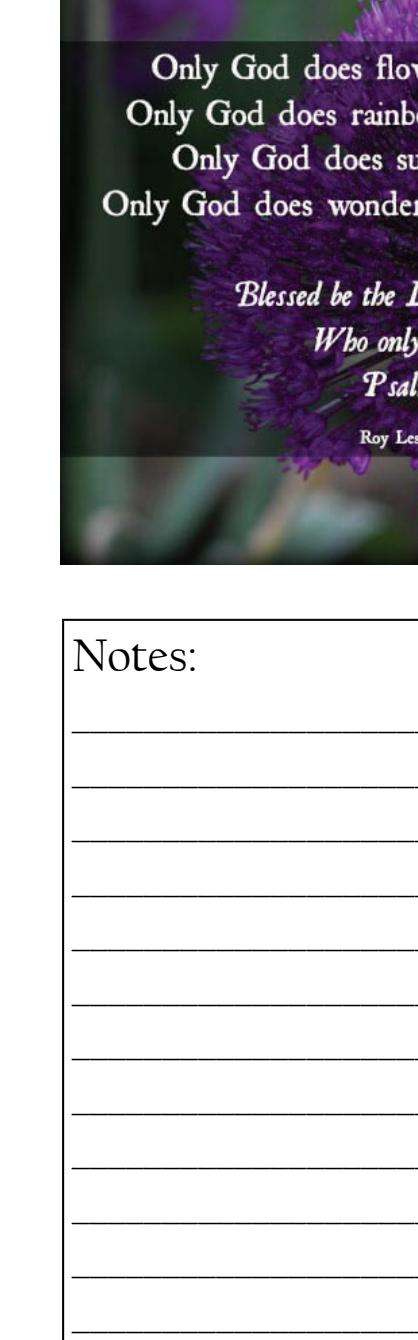

Ecclesiastes 3:17 says, "In due season God will judge everything man does, both good and bad" (LB). In other words, there will be a day when God will ask you to explain why you made the choices you did on Earth.

God wants us to use this time on Earth to learn from his wisdom so that we can make wise decisions. When we make poor decisions, God extends his grace to us through Jesus Christ.

Here's the Good News: Jesus forgives you instantly, completely, and freely.

Talk It Over:

- How does it make you feel to know that God trusted you with the responsibility of making your own choices?
- What makes it difficult to think about the consequences of your choices as you're making them?
- What poor and sinful decisions from your past do you need to accept God's grace for?

Only God does flowers, fresh with morning dew;
Only God does rainbows, when the storm is through.
Only God does sunrises, when the day is new,
Only God does wonders, like when His hands made you!

*Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel,
Who only does wondrous things!*

Psalm 72:18 NKJV

Learning Is a Process, Not a Product

Life can get hectic. Sometimes, rather than being in charge of our life, we find life in charge of us. When that happens, the best thing we can do for ourselves is to just stop. To recharge and regroup is often all we need to find the lost enthusiasm for life. When we know we need it but can't find the time to do it, we feel frustrated.

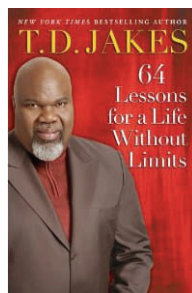

Journeys take time' they are sometimes slow and painful. But as with losing weight or saving for the down payment for a dream home, there are hurdles we must clear along the way in order to reach our final destination. Once there, we can look back and appreciate all we went through. One of the keys to getting where we want to go is faith. When you are headed down the road and suddenly a huge mountain stands between you and where you are trying to go, it takes belief in yourself make the climb. Faith is required because you can't see what's on the other side and know for sure that you will be happy about what's really there.

Living is a process in which learning and growth are an integral part. The way to achieve is to step out on faith. While we may want to know what is going to happen, believing that we can prepare, the truth is life is always full of surprises. The journey teaches us resilience, patience, understanding and perseverance. A lot is required and we may need a respite along the way, and that's okay. Sometime we get bleary-eyed after driving too long and we need to pull off to the side of the road and take a nap. We wake feeling refreshed, alert, and ready to head back down the road.

Your partner my or many not share your vision. Only you can decide whether or not you want and need to be with someone who does....

Public Input Requested through PennDOT,
PA Turnpike Commission Traveler Information Survey
7/12/2013-

Harrisburg – PennDOT and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission (PTC) are seeking the public's input on traveler information through a brief online survey, accessible at www.511PA.com and www.paturnpike.com.

The anonymous survey includes questions on the types of traffic information travelers find valuable, how they access and utilize that information, and how traffic information affects their driving habits. It also asks for feedback on PennDOT's 511PA traveler information service and the PTC's Turnpike Roadway Information Program (TRIP).

"Technology and the ways that our customers use it are constantly evolving. We want to see what people use and expect from information that they absorb while traveling in Pennsylvania," PennDOT Secretary Barry J. Schoch said. "I encourage our customers to take this survey so we can see which of our tools are valuable to them and whether we can improve the services we offer."

PennDOT's 511PA service provides traffic-delay warnings, weather forecasts, average traffic speeds on urban interstates, and access to more than 679 traffic cameras. TRIP provides real-time traffic conditions, weather alerts, and travel information online, on the road, and on your phone or mobile device for the 552 miles of turnpike roadway.

"We are pleased to be working with PennDOT on this survey, the results of which will be used to enhance statewide traveler information systems that provide our customers with accurate and timely information on conditions that may impact their travel on Pennsylvania highways," Pennsylvania Turnpike Chief Executive Officer Mark Compton said.

PennDOT and the PTC urge motorists to avoid calling 511PA or TRIP while driving. Motorists should safely pull off the road before calling the system, or check online for travel delays before starting a trip.
