Visonic Recalls Amber Personal Emergency Response System Kits Due to Remote Pendant Battery Signal Failure

Name of product: Visonic Amber Classic and Amber SelectX Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) Kits

Hazard: A single Amber Base station set to Common Area Mode will not detect a low battery or dead battery warning signal from the remote pendant that notifies the end user or system administrator to replace the pendant battery.

Consumer Contact: Visonic at (800) 223-0020 from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. ET Monday through Friday or online at www.visonic.com and click on North America and click on Product News under the Solutions & Products tab for more information about the recall.

Description: The recalled Visonic Amber Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) kit enables a user to push a button on a pendant to signal a request for assistance. An Amber kit consists of one wireless pendant worn by the user, one Amber brand base station, generally connected to a phone line, a power supply and backup battery. Base stations are white, rectangular and measure about 9-inches wide by 7-inches deep by 2-inches high with emergency, call and check buttons. The emergency button is red on the Classic model and grey on the SelectX model. Recalled Classic models have catalog number 0-7425 and serial numbers 0408044281 through 4410052723. The first four digits of the serial number are manufacture dates from January 2008 through August 2010 in WWYY format. Recalled SelectX models have catalog number 0-100729 and serial numbers 2308600299 through 3013079617 The first four digits represent manufacture dates June 2008 through July 2013 in WWYY format. The first two digits are week of manufacturer and the second two numbers are the year of manufacture. For example serial number 2308 600299 indicates a manufacturing date of the 23rd week of 2008 or roughly June 2008. Each unit has an external label on the back of the base station, with the product name and serial number. Only Amber Classic or SelectX base stations that are placed in Common Area Mode by a professionally trained PERS system installer and are used without additional base stations, are included in the recall.

Remedy: Consumers should immediately contact their system installer or a Visonic alarm installation professional to determine if their Amber base station is set to Common Area Mode, and if so, to either reset their unit to another mode or make other system changes, such as adding an additional base station. Only a professionally-trained PERS system installer can identify and modify the particular mode configuration. Owners are also reminded to manually test their Amber PERS pendant regularly for low battery status.

Failure Can Be Your Biggest Blessing

It was eighty-six years before baseball's Boston Red Sox won a World Series title in 2004, Susan Lucci, famously known as the fictional Erica Kane of a daytime soap opera, was nominated eighteen times before she finally won the 1999 Emmy Award for best actress in a daytime drama. Thomas Edison conducted many experiments before he developed the lightbulb. George Washington Carver spent a lifetime inventing products from his work with agricultural products like the peanut. It was nearly ten years after his first efforts before Dr. Jonas Salk developed the polio vaccine that saved countless lives.

Even though year after year they got to the dance, so to speak, but went home alone, they never stopped pursuing their dreams. Victory is often preceded by failure, sometimes numerous failures. The world is full of great people with a long list of accomplishments and a much longer list of failures. Persistence and a refusal to give up on their vision kept them coming back, and back, and back again until they finally got what they were after.

Try to imagine what life would be like without the polio vaccine or the lightbulb. As with the small Super Balls I used to love as a child, sometimes the bound-the rebound-is what matters most in life. Our society celebrates winners. But the truth is, just like death and taxes, failure is a part of life. It's not that successful people never get knocked down, it's just that when other are still lying on the ground nursing their wounds, winners have gotten up, dusted themselves off, and have headed back down the road toward the finish line.

Successful people pay attention to their failures and learn from them. They observe them carefully, figure out what went wrong and use them to correct their mistakes going forward. ...

I HAVE LED A VERY LONG AND EVENTFUL LIFE
... YOU BETTER DIP ME AGAIN

Know Who You Are

by Rick Warren

“When Jesus spoke again to the people, he said, ‘I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will never walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.’” (John 8:12 NIV)

When Jesus said, “I am the light of the world,” he was defining himself. He was saying, “I know who I am.” More than 18 times in the Bible, Jesus says, “I am” and then gives a description. He described himself as the door, the bread of life, the way, the truth, the resurrection, and the life. Over and over, he defines himself. Jesus knew who he was and, as a result, he was not under pressure.

This is the principle of identity. As long as you are unsure of your identity, you're going to be pressured to fit into other people's molds. They will manipulate you. They will try to make you into what they think you ought to be rather than what God made you to be.

One of the major causes of stress comes from trying to be somebody that you're not. When you are fearful that someone's going to find out what you're really like, that you might not be able to keep up the façade, it causes stress.

The only way you can counterbalance outside external pressures is to have an internal sense of satisfaction about who you are and who God made you to be. You discover who you are by knowing who you are.

The Bible says that you were created by God. You are deeply loved by him. You are accepted as you are. He has a plan for your life. Until you settle this issue of identity, you will be insecure and you will be pressured by stress. You cannot serve other people until you settle this issue.

Jesus constantly did things that surprised everybody else. He put himself below others and served them. None of the other disciples would have ever thought to wash each other's feet in the Upper Room because of their insecurity. But Jesus always served from a position of strength. He knew who and whose he was, so it didn't matter that he lowered himself to serve them.

Service comes from self-esteem. Until you overcome your insecurity and feel good about yourself, you won't feel like helping anyone else. Be secure in who you are and whose you are so that you can effectively serve others.

Talk About It

- What are the differences in what the world and others say about you and what you believe God would say about you?
- On whose opinion do you want to base your self-esteem? How will that decision affect the way you serve in ministry?

Community Updates

Church Bulletin Bloopers

For those of you who have children and don't know it, we have a nursery down stairs.

The eighth graders will be presenting Shakespeare's Hamlet in the church basement on Friday at 7 pm. The congregation is invited to attend the tragedy.

The outreach committee has enlisted 25 visitors to make calls on people who are not afflicted with any church.

Evening massage - 6 p.m.

The Pastor would appreciate it if the ladies of the congregation would lend him their electric girdles for the pancake breakfast next Sunday morning.

The third verse of Blessed Assurance will be sung without musical accomplishment.

Ushers will eat latecomers.
